COMMISSIONER TODD STAPLES
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Texas scores big as one of the largest watermelon-producing states! You can find watermelons at the local farmer's market or grocery stores state-wide. Like their cantaloupe cousins, watermelons need 2 to 3 months of heat to produce ripe fruit, making Texas a perfect place to grow!

Eat Fresh!

Foods are more delicious if they are eaten during their peak season. For example, bell peppers are at their peak in the summer and citrus fruit in the winter. Visit www.SquareMeals.org/FarmtoSchool today to learn what is in season in your area.
